Strictly confidential

CEO succession in times of comlexity November 2019

EgonZehnder

More and more business problems are of complex nature Cynefin Model

CYNEFIN

Sense making

Decision making

Sense of place

Probe Sense Respond

(Emergent)

(Cause and effect in retrospect or no right answer)

Act Sense Respond

(Novel)

(Never cause and effect Top Down decision)

CHAOTIC

COMPLICATED

Sense Analyse Respond

(Good Practice)

(Cause and effect needs analysis/ expertise and a range of right answers)

> Sense Categorise Respond

(Best Practice)

(Can see cause and effect and reason/rules work)

SIMPLE

A new leadership repertoire required

Leadership in the complicated : The "superhero"

- Saw world through lens of strategy: leading by "or" and "command and control"
- "Thinkers & Warriors"
- Curious in the world
- "All things to all people dominant in every dimension"
- · "Knew what to and how to do"
- · Linear thinker within well-defined ecosystem
- Looking to achieve ambitious goals
- · Zero-failure culture
- Led from "inside out" shaping strong culture to define market space
- Ready for a particular context

Leadership in complexity: "Life long learner and amplifying others"

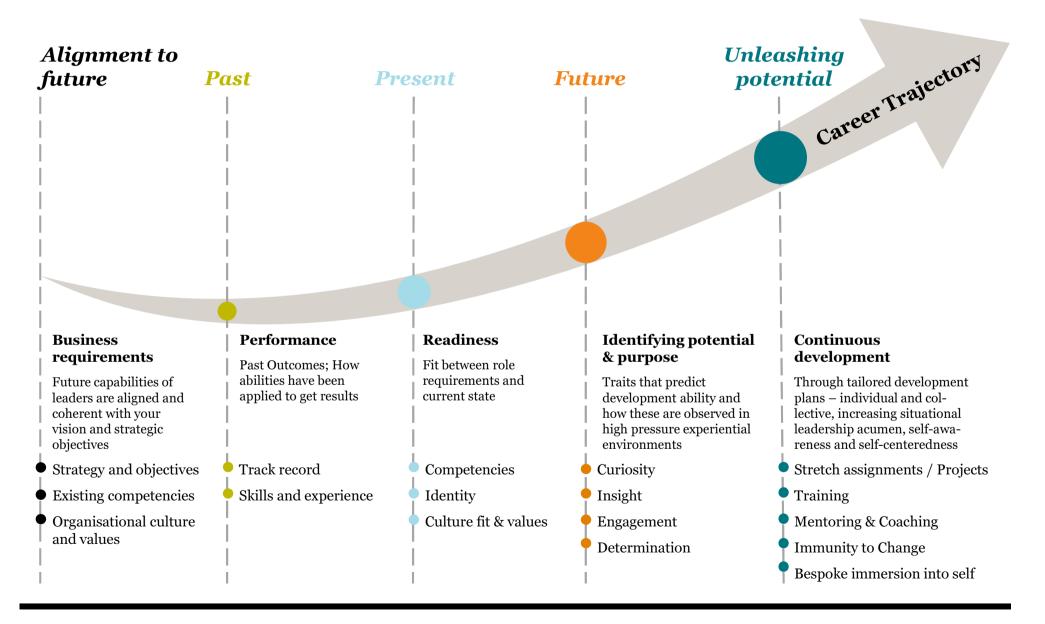

- See business in larger context: leading by "and" and by "purpose"
- "Dreamers & Lovers (& caring Warriors)"
- Curious in self, others, systems and other realities
- Leverages/orchestrates leadership strengths of others
- Nurtures and embraces difference to drive creativity
- Flexible and open mindset lean in to uncertainty
- Looking for new possibilities
- Experiential/flexible/"fail fast" culture
- Lead from "outside in" customer-centric mentality
- Ready for anything

Unchanged:

- Perceived loneliness at the top
- Ultimate responsibility sits still with CEO
- CEO as gatekeeper of values and company culture

What to look for in senior executives?

CEO succession

- 1 Is a multi-year process!
- 2 Requires clear future orientated role understanding and board alignment
- 3 Invest into development of internal candidates (vertical growth) and the whole executive committee prior to a succession
- 4 Compare internal and external candidates
- 5 On-board / in-board your new CEO thoroughly
- 6 As new CEO continue to learn and grow

And how can you lead effectively in complexity?

- 1 Shift your curiosity towards yourself and others
- 2 Learn to see systems and to zoom out
- 3 Appreciate / amplify the positives of polarities
- 4 Think of possibilities and not concrete goals
- 5 Experiment at the edges of the system
- 6 Listen to learn
- 7 Carry different stories
- 8 Connect to purpose, body, emotions and compassion for you and others